Armed and Safe

Enhancing public safety and preventing crime through better regulation of Canada's armoured car industry

WHAT IS AT STAKE? Public safety, and the safety of armoured car employees, is increasingly being put at risk by the lack of comprehensive industry regulation. Firms are engaging in heightened cost competition on the basis of lowered security standards, resulting in a higher risk of gun crime through armed robbery and providing easier targets for organized crime.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE? The federal government needs to follow the lead of other countries and develop a comprehensive regulatory framework for the armoured car and secure logistics industry that will establish minimum standards in: • Employee training; • Vehicle Specifications; • Crew complements; and • Safety equipment.
